

Who? Grades K-8 will shift to a modified Plan B as outlined below. Grades 9-12 will continue with remote instruction under Plan C.

What? Students in grades K-8 will transition to in-person instruction over a three-week period, starting Monday, October 5 on an A/B schedule.

- Group A = students with last name A-L will report to school on Monday & Tuesday

  - *Accommodations will be made for blended families who have students living in the same household with different last names.

When? Students will transition back to in-person instruction in small groups to accommodate social distancing requirements and to ensure the safety of students and staff. We will follow the timeline below to transition K-8 students back into the classroom.

Q: What will my child do on the days that he/she does not report to school for in-person instruction?

Students will be expected to participate virtually on the days they are not attending school for in-person instruction. Using web cameras, teachers will conduct class for students who are in person and those who are virtual at the same time. All lessons will be recorded and uploaded to Google Classroom or Canvas.

Q: What are the expectations of my child on Wednesday since there is no “live” instruction?

Teachers will provide assignments and/or activities for students to complete on Wednesdays. Assignments must be completed in order to be counted present for that day.

Q: What should I do if children living in my home are scheduled for in-person instruction on different days?

You are encouraged to contact your student’s school to discuss. Depending on social distancing guidelines and available space, schools will work with parents to accommodate your needs.

Q: Will the school schedule change?

Any updates to schedules will be posted on each school’s website and/or social media page.

Q: If my child is sick on the day they are scheduled for in-person instruction, can they report to school on another day?

No. We have worked diligently to adhere to social distancing guidelines and any unexpected changes in student numbers could violate these requirements.
